4. What is a physician assistant's scope of practice according to Montana Law?

Under 37-20-403(3), MCA, the physician assistant may diagnose, examine, and treat human conditions, ailments, diseases, injuries, or infirmities, either physical or mental, by any means, method, device, or instrumentality authorized by the supervising physician. The authorization will be delegated by the supervising physician, in writing through the duties and delegation agreement kept current and on file by the supervision physician and physician assistant.

The Duties and Delegation agreement must be made available when requested from the board or any other individual, such as hospital, administrators, other healthcare provider and/or patient etc.

10. Under what circumstances is it appropriate to submit a new supervision agreement?

Prior to the PA beginning practice in a new working relationship with a supervising physician.

The agreement must be kept current, by amendment or substitution, to reflect changes in the duties of each party occurring over time. The board may by rule specify other requirements for the agreement.

A physician assistant licensed by the board before October 1st 2005 shall execute a duties and delegation agreement with supervising physician by October 1st, 2006. (This is a grace period of 1 year to enact the new legislation)

13. If a physician assistant's only supervising physician is not available, whose obligation is it to ensure that supervision is in place?

Both the supervising physician and physician assistant are obligated to ensure that there is active and continuous supervision, but do not require onsite, direct supervision or the physical presence of the physician, as long as there is a means of communication available between the supervising physician and the PA. However, in the event that communication is not available while the PA is practicing, the supervising physician must arrange for a back up physician to assist the PA as needed. The PA must be able to contact the physician designated as the supervising or covering in the absence of the supervising physician. This does not relieve the supervising physician's professional and legal responsibilities under 37-20-301,(1)(b) MCA.

14. Does a back up physician who is covering in the absence of the supervising physician need to be approved by the Board?

No the Board will not be requiring back up physicians to be approved by board, or be notified of a change in any back up physician. However, the duties and delegation agreement between the physician and PA should describe the setting and continuous supervision method to utilize in their practice. (For example: On site, electronic, written instructions and/or protocols, back up supervising physician available or all of the above)

15. If you become aware of another healthcare provider that may be incompetent or committing unprofessional conduct, including chemical dependency or drug diversion, what should you do?
- If you are a physician, you are obligated to report acts of unprofessional conduct or incompetence as defined by 37-1-316, MCA, and/or board rules 24.156.625 for physician and 24.156.1625 for physician assistants.
 - Healthcare providers licensed by the boards are required to self report during the renewal period of their license.
 - You may also contact the Board's impairment program to assist the healthcare provider in question with any physically or mental impairment by habitual intemperance or the excessive use of addictive drugs, alcohol or any other drug or substance or by mental or chronic physical illness. The program is Montana Professional Assistance Program, (406) 245-4300, Mike Ramirez or contact the board office for the information. Your referral to MPAP may be anonymous.
 - Anyone may file a complaint or provide information to the Board office regarding unprofessional conduct or incompetence.

16. Can a physician assistant practice independently?

No, the physician assistant has a dependent practice and must be under physician supervision. Under 37-20-101 and 37-20-403, MCA, the supervising physician is professionally and legally responsible for the all care and treatment of the physician assistant's patients.

17. What is the definition of Supervision Agreement?

In accordance with 37-20-401(5), MCA means a written agreement between a supervising physician and a physician assistant providing for the supervision of the physician assistant. In accordance with Board rule "supervision" is defined as accepting responsibility for, and overseeing all care and treatment of the physician assistant by telephone, radio or in person as frequently as necessary considering the location, nature of practice and experience of the physician assistant.
